Serial No.:

Inventor(s): Becker et al.

METHOD FOR ENHANCING OXIDE TO NITRIDE SELECTIVITY THROUGH THE USE OF INDEPENDENT HEAT CONTROL

ABSTRACT

A process for controlling the etch of a silicon dioxide layer at a high etch rate and high selectivity with respect to silicon nitride, particularly in a multilayer structure, by maintaining various portions of the etch chamber at elevated temperatures.